As I walk, walk a lonely path of life, I start to wonder, wonder why I can't be like my niece, my niece which I so much admire. No worries, wonders or fears just freedom. Unlimited freedom, ain't that nice.

When I think more and more, I see that she is that and much more.

I see that she is that and much, much more. For she is weak, fragile and so, so innocent. As I strive to see the future I see a gruesome and cruel world.

But as long as I live I will protect her.
So for her I call this Micaelia.
